Dolphin Days is a two-page document. If you are viewing it from your device, make sure you click on the image of the Newsletter, and it will open the two pages through a web browser.

As we head towards Thanksgiving break, we recognize the many blessings God has so graciously bestowed upon us.

Here at MBS, we are amazed at our students who come every day ready to learn. They all provide us with a daily reminder of why we are here and what is essential.

We are grateful for the support of the parents in building an excellent community for our students. We are also thankful that our parents have kept trust and confidence in us. They continue to leave their most valuable ones with us. We have parents who work hard and advocate to be a partner in their children's education, safety, and well-being. For this, we will always be so thankful. We are also grateful for our volunteers who enthusiastically provide so much for our school.

We are grateful for the faculty and staff members who care about student success and have the best interest of our students in essence. We see dedicated and hard-working individuals going above and beyond to make sure that great things happen in our school. They do make a difference, and our students benefit from those efforts.

May God bless you and your family as you share the gift of time together.

Principal

Christmas Parade

This year MBS is participating in the Berlin Christmas Parade on Tuesday December 2 at 7pm. The theme of the float is 'The Nativity'. The parade committee is looking for student volunteers to dress in costume and sit on the float and for students to walk along side of the float. Families are welcome to participate and encourage to attend to cheer on their fellow classmates as they pass by the judges stand. Please contact Kim Mihaly at kim@ruarkgolf.com if you are interested in participating.

Sylvan Learning

We are excited to announce a partnership with Sylvan Learning here at Most Blessed Sacrament Catholic School. Our goal is to have a satellite center located in the library. They will be offering tutoring services once a week after school. Please contact the office if you are interested.
